1.) Golden Buddha Temple – Wat Traimit, located in the vibrant heart of Chinatown, is renowned for its magnificent 5.5-ton seated Buddha statue. This exquisite gold sculpture, which dates back to the 13th century, stands nearly 5 meters tall. Situated approximately 450 meters west of Hualampong Railway Station, Wat Traimit is a must-visit, ranking among the top 10 attractions in Chinatown and the 20 essential temples to explore in Bangkok.

2.) Mahapruettharam Temple – This ancient temple's origins remain shrouded in mystery, with no documented history of its construction. It was reconstructed during the reign of King IV (1851 – 1868) and boasts stunning murals within the ubosot, alongside a remarkable 19-meter reclining Buddha housed in the viharn. Originally named Wat Tha Kwian, the temple's name reflects its past as a resting spot for water buffalo carts (kwian).

3.) Marble Temple – Nestled in the Dusit District of Bangkok, this iconic Buddhist temple, also known as Wat Benchamabophit, is celebrated for its striking architecture. As one of the city's most famous temples, it showcases the quintessential Bangkok style, characterized by high gables, stepped roofs, and intricate finials, making it a significant draw for visitors.
